

ETHICS AGREEMENT

Clarkson University values personal integrity. Matriculation at Clarkson carries with it the obligation that a student will not claim as his or her own, the work of another, or any work that has not been honestly performed, will not take any examination by improper means and will not aid and abet another in any dishonesty.

Violations of the Code of Ethics are regarded as most serious offenses and render the offenders liable to severe disciplinary action. Alleged violations of the Code of Ethics are dealt with according to the policies and procedures of the Academic Integrity Committee. Please see your Student Handbook for detailed information.

Students affiliated with the Office of Accommodative Services who take exams in our testing facility are proctored by student workers and frequently take exams at different times than their classmates, so personal integrity is especially important. In signing this document, you are verifying that you have not received improper assistance prior to this exam, nor will you receive or offer to another student improper assistance during this exam. You agree that you will not share the contents of this exam until it is proper to do so. You certify that you do not have your cell phone on your person and that you are only using notes, calculator, books or formulas as authorized by your professor.
